There's nothing like Australia

EPISODE
FIVE:

Queensland and Northern Territory

It's A Wrap! The Final Episode

The sun sets on Judy Bailey's five week sojourn around Australia atop an ancient escarpment in Kakadu National Park in the Northern Territory.

Judy started her epic journey on the southern coast of Western Australia and vowed to take the roads less travelled in what would be a journey of discovery where she uncovered some of Australia's greatest holiday experiences. Judy's bucket list got a fair few ticks as she experienced the diverse and unique people, places and natural wonders of this vast continent. Travelling through each State and Territory, Judy encourages Kiwis who think they know Australia to "think again..." there is so much to be discovered. On her final leg, Judy takes in the Southern Great Barrier Reef region of Queensland and then the Top End of the Northern Territory.

Queensland's Southern Great Barrier Reef

With 140 kilometres of pristine coastline, several national parks and coral cays, the Southern Great Barrier Reef region is a haven for nature lovers and sun worshipers. At the southern most end of the reef, Lady Elliot Island offers a unique opportunity to swim with turtles and manta rays in the wild while enjoying some of the world's best snorkelling.

Visitors to the region can also enjoy the great hospitality of the region's towns including Bundaberg, Rockhampton and Gladstone each offering a range of unique experiences and activities – from rum tasting tours to camel rides on the beach as well as boasting an extraordinary history – which makes for some very good storytelling!

The Top End – The Northern Territory

Nature abounds in Kakadu, Australia's largest National Park just a couple of hours drive south of Darwin. The region is said to have 'six seasons' making the landscape ever changing but always spectacular.

Experience the contrast of wild wetlands, the thundering waterfalls, and the dry, red desert. Watch as the landscapes come alive with blossoming flowers, kangaroos, birdlife and crocodiles.

The region also features the highest concentration of Aboriginal rock art giving visitors an insight into the rich storytelling history of the the people that have inhabited this land for over 50,000 years.
